The Senior Class Presents...

The Gryphon 1962

Warwick Veterans Memorial
High School

Warwick, Rhode Island

Foreword

Let me stand by the brink of the sea and listen to the whisperings of the waves.

Let me hear of the mysterious challenge before me.
Then I will be ready.

I will take this adventure which is so vast and make it great.

I will leave behind fear and take up courage.
No star will be too high; no
goal too far.

The wistful days of candied apples and pink balloons will remain;
but I will have gone,
for

I have promises to keep...

And miles to go before I sleep.

Principal's Message

It is a distinct pleasure for me to extend to the Class of 1962 heartiest congratulations and best wishes for continued success.

The administration and faculty are proud that you have served your Alma Mater well; we believe that you will continue to serve her in the future, for you are members of that great family of young men and women from whom we anticipate wonderful things. In an especial way, you represent the hope, the enterprise, and the energy of America.

We have watched you share your school unselfishly while you carried on your responsibilities faithfully, and we pray that the short history of your class will not end on Commencement Day. It is our hope that your rich experience at Warwick Veterans Memorial High School will be of everlasting value to you in a happy world of tomorrow . . .
where there are promises to keep.

J. IRVING MOURNIGHAN
Principal

Administration

As an assistant principal, Mr. Lavery's responsibilities parallel those of Mr. Morry in relation to attendance and discipline. Upon his graduation from Rhode Island College of Education, he began teaching at Aldrich High School. At Warwick High School he has been a guidance counselor and Business-Industry Co-ordinator. Mr. Lavery is currently engaged in graduate work toward his doctorate at the University of Connecticut.

Mr. Morry is of invaluable help in the preparation of schedules and curricula, especially in the confusing double sessions of Warwick. He and Mr. Lavery work hand in hand with discipline and punctuality necessary to a well-run school. As former head of the guidance department, Mr. Morry shows understanding and patience in many difficult problems confronting the administration.

THOMAS F. LAVERY
and
MICHAEL A. MORRY
Assistant Principals

Administration

Dr. Scott, former principal of Warwick High School, has recently been appointed to the position of assistant superintendent of Warwick schools. A graduate of the University of Rhode Island, he was awarded an honorary Doctor of Pedagogy by his Alma Mater. Having a vital interest in education, Dr. Scott has served as president of the New England Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools. He has also been a member of the Secondary Schools Principals' Athletic Committee, and the National Secondary School Principals. Dr. Scott has gained much valuable experience in administrative problems from his membership in these and other organizations.

Upon graduation from Dartmouth College, Dr. Taylor began his teaching career in Massachusetts. After serving as guidance counselor and school administrator on both the junior and senior high school levels in the Providence school system, he came to Warwick in 1952 where he still maintains his office of city administrator. His once active career in the Navy is now supplemented by his post as director of the U.S. Naval and Marine Corps Reserves. Through his experience the Warwick school system, one of the largest in the state, has become one of the most progressive.

Shop math is designed to afford boys a working knowledge of basic mathematical skills as applied to machines and factory apparatus. Mr. Taylor points out an easier way to solve fractions.

One of the many specialized courses in the math department, nurses' math, offers an advantage to aspiring nurses. Miss Rafanelli explains the apothecary system, which is a system of fluid measures used by apothecaries.

The math department at Warwick offers many courses which help the student to develop a high degree of mathematical achievement. All teachers in this department are now taking courses in order to keep pace with the new theories in the field.

Modern algebra, a new form which enables the student to draw conclusions and prove the basic algebraic fundamentals, is taught in the afternoon session. The advanced courses offered by the department are: plane and solid geometry, analytic geometry and calculus, and advanced algebra. Other more specialized courses, including shop math, nurses' math, and functional math, serve to prepare the student for a definite career.

Geometric proofs are solved by using theorems, assumptions, and postulates in addition to deductive reasonings. Mrs. Otis helps Patricia Insana work out a complicated problem.

In a typical pose with his "stick" as part of his standard equipment, Mr. Carello cautions his trigonometry class that his department night will be held in Rhode Island Auditorium.

A thorough knowledge of the English language is essential in the business world or in the pursuit of further education. The curriculum of the English department offers the student not only basic fundamental of rhetoric but also of fuller appreciation of our literature. Courses in creative writing, effective writing, and public speaking are offered to qualified seniors. A workshop in remedial reading helps students to increase their speed and comprehension.

In a relatively new experiment in team teaching, several faculty members of the department specializing in certain areas present a series of lectures to their junior and senior classes.

In a team teaching lecture on note taking, Mr. McDevitt shows by use of a visual and the overhead projector that notes which are not well-organized are of no use.

Recordings from English literature, sometimes by the authors of the works, add an interesting sidenote to Mrs. Bourgaize's senior English class.

Language gives a personal insight into the mind and spirit of a nation. In a modern world, the student uses basic knowledge of the language, not only to become acquainted with the customs and cultures of a foreign country, but also to understand the complex nature of world situations. French, German, Spanish, Italian, and Latin are offered in a diversified program. To aid in the cultivation of a language, students use the language lab, which changes the emphasis from reading to speaking.

It's "La commedia e finita" says Miss Borra to Sandra Antonucci. Since the emphasis in a language is speaking and understanding through learning, Miss Borra stresses pronunciation in Italian III.

Social studies is a knowledge of the events which connect man's past with his future. Through courses such as history, geography, government, and economics, students learn to relate specific occurrences to the world around them. Some of these classes are part of a team teaching program which enables students to take advantage of lectures given by teachers specializing in particular areas of study. In this democracy, and in a time when the world has become so small, a greater understanding of people and their history is necessary for any civic-minded citizen.

Mr. Duggan points out the importance of a sound understanding of the economic trends of the stock market to his economics class.

Team teaching provides an insight into college lecture methods as shown by Mr. Shapiro with his U.S. history classes as he tape records his lecture.

Art is not only a course for the artistically talented, it is also useful to the student who appreciates art and wishes to understand its mechanics more fully. Thus, an art course broadens one's background as well as providing an opportunity for self-expression. And, for some students, this course may pave the way for a vocation in commercial art.

KENNETH D. RILEY

The students at Warwick have lost a devoted friend through the death of Mr. Kenneth Riley.

Mr. Riley had been with the school since its opening in 1956. Serving in the capacity of guidance counselor, he performed his duties with understanding and patience. Mr. Riley had the knack for making a pupil's serious problems seem small, and his hearty laugh carried great healing powers.

Besides being a counselor, Mr. Riley chaperoned school dances and participated actively in the Chess Club as its advisor. To him, a chess game was a serious undertaking. He played the game earnestly, and he played to win.

If something was worth doing, he did it in the best way he knew how. Mr. Riley was like that.

He kept his promises . . .

The sudden death of Edmund Jusczyk was a great shock to the students and faculty as well as to sports officials throughout the state.

Mr. Jusczyk taught physical education and coached sports including wrestling and basketball. He himself had been a superb athlete, for he played football and baseball in high school and had a brief career in professional baseball before going into teaching. In addition, he refereed basketball games. He had a strong sense of fair play and performed his duties earnestly, always endeavoring to make the best possible call.

Mr. Jusczyk was an unassuming and quiet person, but he never forgot anyone. There was always a nod or a smile for a student or colleague.

Mr. Jusczyk did not say much. He didn't have to. You knew by his example that he was a gentleman.

These are the barefoot years, the happy years where time flees faster than a splashing wave.
There is so much to do, so much to accomplish! While hurrying through this spirited time of victory and defeat, I have found the friendships that will stay with me as I go. I have gained the strength to lead and the confidence to follow. These lessons
I will take, keeping a carefree heart and a searching mind.

Sharon Choate, Jeannine Dwyer, Ann Redinger, Meredith Redstone, and Susan Johnson pause for a moment while Anne McLaren spoofs the photographer.

All sorts of smiles gleam for "Kenny" Rowbottom, our Gryphon photographer.

My name is Ann—without an "e". We are sitting here and it is fun. Jonny is talking. And Sue is quiet. And Dave is saying funny things. And Bill is quiet. And Dale isn't here. I miss her. Denny is doodling over there. Nancy is sitting by herself. She is very busy. Sharon is fooling around with Barbara's hair. She is funny. Bill looks so serious. But he is more nicer when he smiles because of this. (He does not smile for no reason at all). Kenny Bell is thumbing through an old yearbook. He is a good photographer. Jonny is tired. Why is he tired? Dave is whispering again. It is not polite to whisper. We are not getting much done. Everyone is talking at once. Now Nancy, now Mlle. Hurl, now Jonny, now Mlle. Hurl, now Kenny, now Bill, Jonny, and Dave altogether. Sharon got her pictures today. Will she give me one? I hope so. What is Lana doing? She is smiling. How pretty she is! How fresh and sweet and oh I don't know. Jeannine is very silent. I wonder why. Miss Hurl just told Annie McLaren to sit down and quit jiggling. And now everyone is talking about food. But Merrie. She is sitting there with a pen in her mouth. She is thinking. There is Karen. She is the only one who doesn't raise her voice. She is a lady and she makes good layouts. And now it is getting late. I hear commotion behind me. Annie is choking to death. Now she is laughing. Miss Hurl told her to be quiet. But she won't. Something is killing her. She is incoherent. She won't stop laughing. Now we are all laughing. We are all tired. We have worked so hard and eaten so much that we are—Anne is under the table. Miss Hurl is ready to quit now. Her glasses are off. Now she is laughing. Now Barbara has Miss Willard riding on a bicycle built for six. Here comes Miss Willard and Mr. Eggert. Now everyone is laughing but—you know who—Bill Diman.

One of the duties of the publicity committee is to make posters for many school activities. Joan Eaton, chairman and Kathleen Simmons, co-chairman proudly display one of the posters made for the Winter Concert.

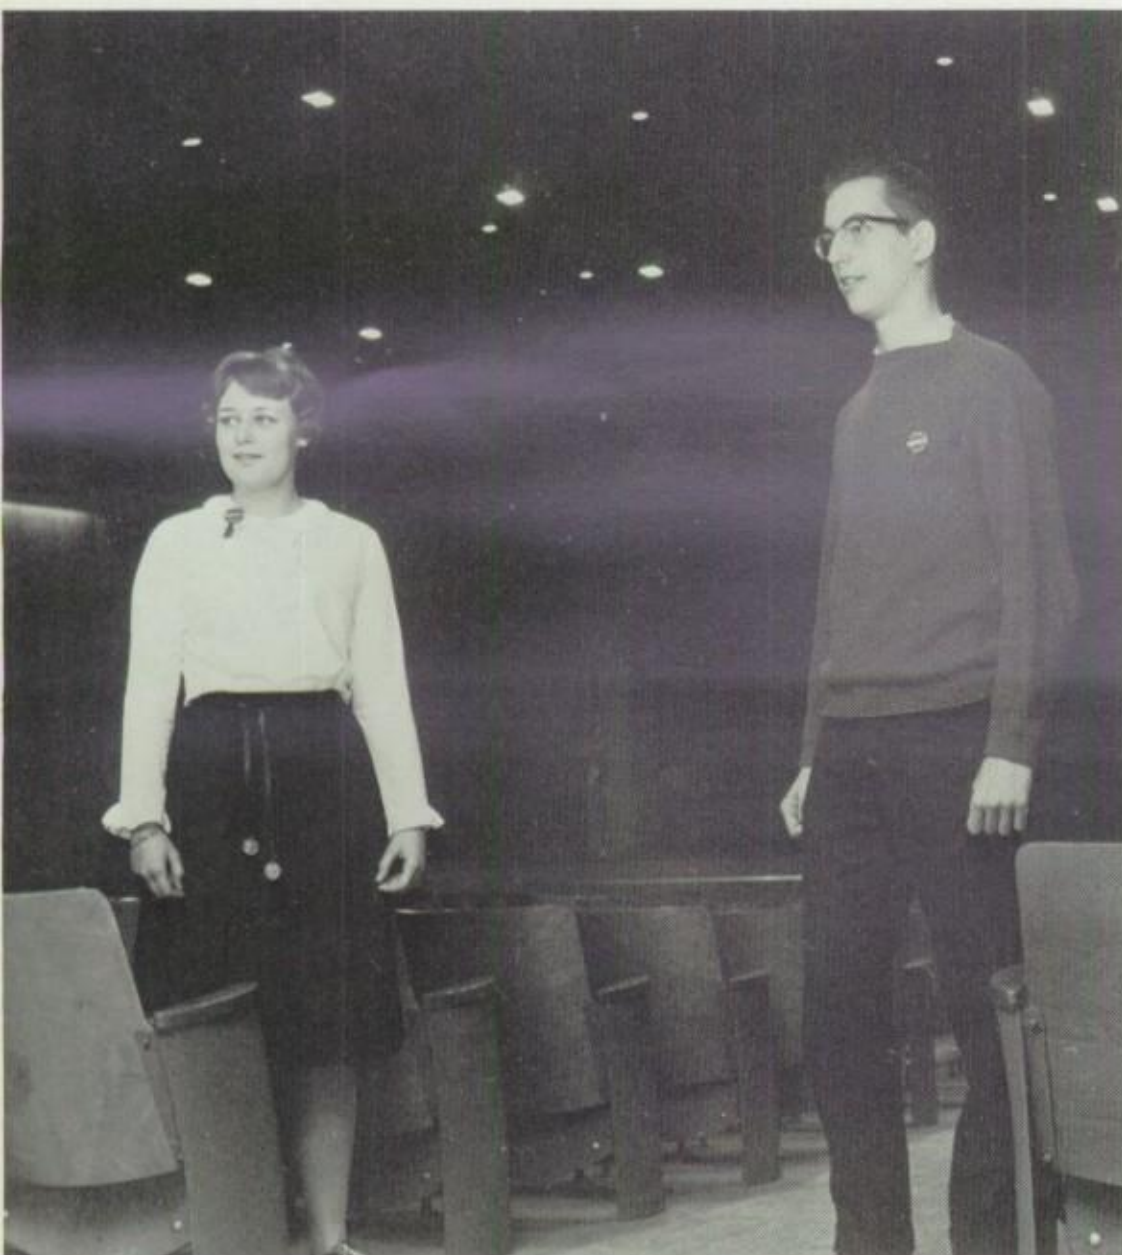

For Pamela Salisbury, being chairman of the ways and means committee means taking charge of the Student Council's school store. Here she offers her assistance to Janet Pearson and Barbara Cotton.

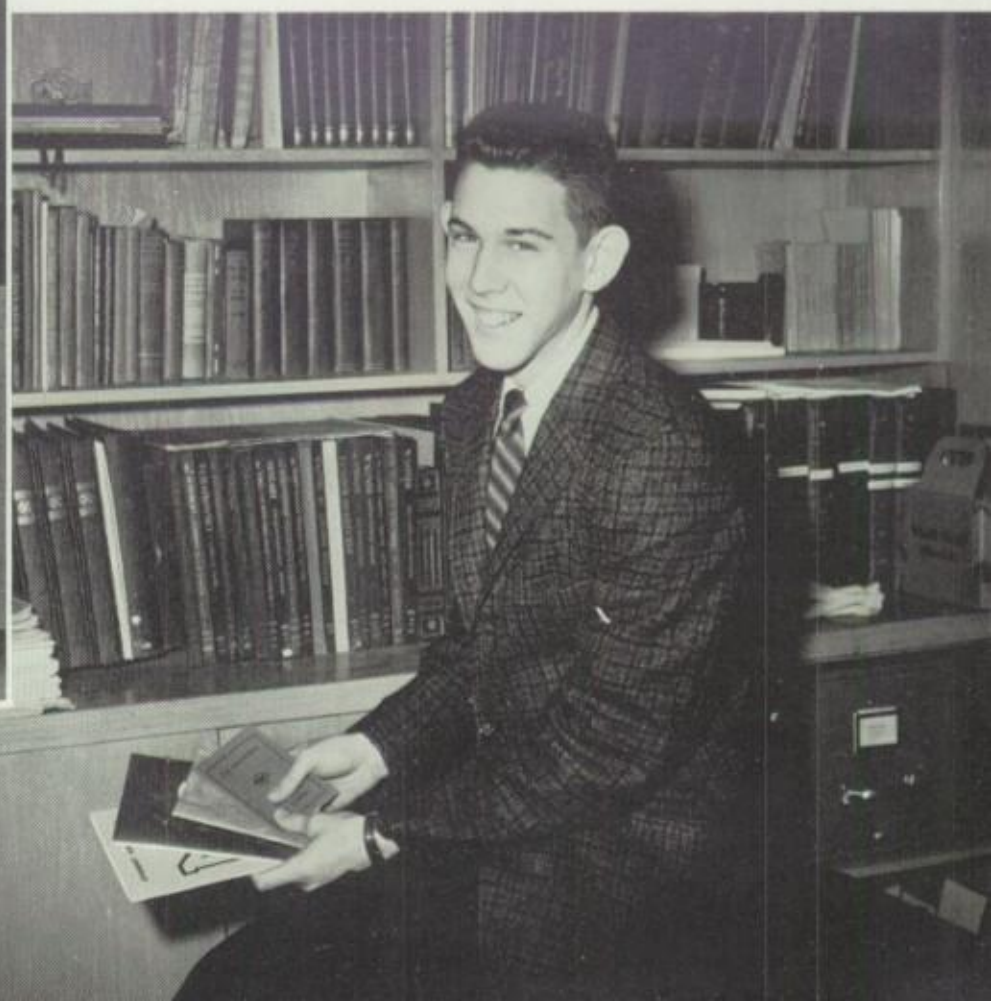

Student

The Student Council is an executive body which governs several student committees. In this way more people can participate in creating school spirit and making this body a communication and information center for the whole school. Excepting the officers of the Student Council, each of the other members is a co-chairman of the assembly, health and safety, publicity, social, ways and means, or handbook committees. Service to the school is also carried out by a new venture, a supply store

Daniel Moore, chairman of the handbook committee, is responsible for the makeup and organization of materials for the Warwick Veteran's Memorial High School Handbook.

Nancy Fishlock, chairman and Carl Martland, co-chairman of the assembly committee have the responsibility of assigning ushers for assemblies and seeing that proper assembly conduct is maintained.

Junior Class

With the memory of the Sophomore Hop and the afternoon session still fresh in their minds, the class of 1963 emerged into its junior year with the vitality of upperclassmen. The class events began with the election of class officers and executive committee. An enjoyable evening at the Valentine's Dance, "Dance des Coeurs," was the result of the work and planning of this committee. Under the guidance of the advisors, Miss Moroney and Mr. Vermeersch, the class will have many memories of the Junior Prom to carry with them through their senior year.

Library Club

With over thirteen thousand volumes, our modern library is one of the three largest in the state. The Library Club helps to keep it functioning smoothly and to acquaint the students with the location and organization of library materials.

One of the club's newest projects is the arrangement of the bulletin board, Library Laughs, on which cartoons and drawings are displayed.

Mrs. Price instills in the members an appreciation for books, reading, and the skills necessary to the proper maintenance of a library.

Watching as Joan Imbeau illustrates the correct way to put on a plastic cover are Mrs. Kerr, E. Anderson, Mrs. Keeney, E. Bellanger, and S. Zeidiman.

To promote a higher standard of Christian character in young men, the Hi-Y offers various activities. This year the club undertook a new project, "Toys for Tots." A large red train was placed in the main lobby at Christmas for students to deposit their toy contributions. This undertaking was so successful that there were enough toys to distribute to the Lakeside Home as well as to other organizations and needy families. Their participation in the Christmas and Easter assemblies, contribution to the scholarship drive, and a ski trip to Mt. Snow are the projects that highlighted their year. To meet expenses for these different activities, the Hi-Y sells candy, school emblems, and the ever-popular "varsity rats."

The Wise Men, John Lombard, Kenneth Anderson, Stuart Royle, and Jonathan Collom, dress for the annual Christmas Pageant presented by the Hi-Y.

Teens-In-White

The activities of this club have been designed for those girls interested in entering careers of nursing or social work after graduation. The diversity of the projects undertaken acquaint the girls with the type of work they will encounter in their chosen professions. Such projects include the polio clinics, pre-school roundups, assisting at the tuberculin tests, and adopting their annual Christmas family. Through these and other civic activities, such as the scholarship drive, the girls learn to extend themselves by helping others.

An endless line of juniors files by to receive last minute encouragement and a swab of alcohol from Elizabeth Wellwood, Teens-in-White president, who is assisting in the tuberculin tests.

Mary Lou Joseph helps Crystal Brown choose a paperback from selections in the bookstore, which offers supplementary reading materials for various departments.

Future Teachers of America

The goal of the Future Teachers of America is to stimulate an interest in teaching in high school girls. Under the guidance of Miss West, the members endeavor to learn more about this profession through informative programs, movies, and guest speakers. The activities for this year have been planned around the topic, "Why Teach?" The major project of this organization has been the operation of a bookstore in the English office, where interested students can obtain paperbacks which are helpful in their various courses.

Chess Club

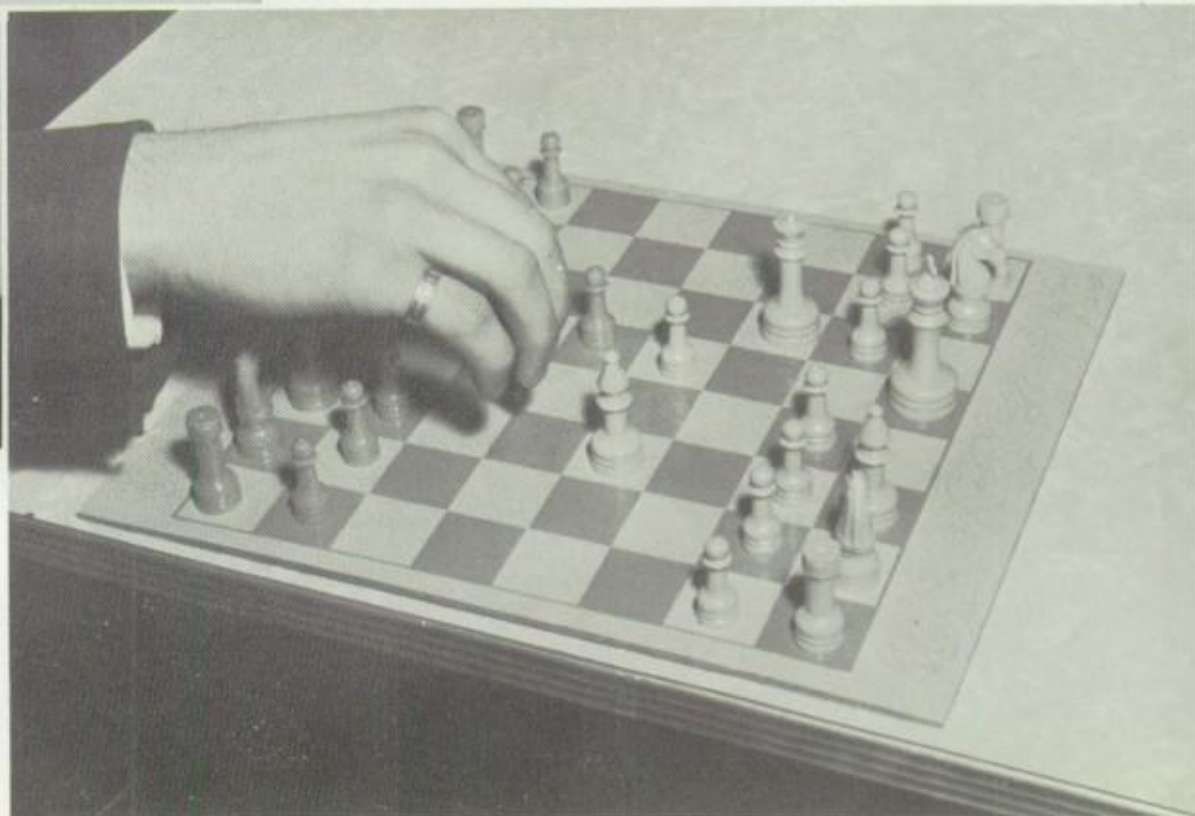

A game of anticipation and tenseness, chess promotes sportsmanship, concentration, and logical thinking. The fifteen members of the club under the direction of Mr. Newton are also members of the Providence Chess Club. These eager participants compete after school in the cafeteria, the library, and any other available room. Matching with skill and patience, the winner is finally able to call, "Checkmate!"

Members of the Chess Club: J. Ferelli, R. Cassidy, M. Rydberg, S. Southwick, W. Caverly, and Mr. Newton, advisor.

Engrossed in their intriguing game, Malcolm Rydberg grabs a bite to eat as Stephen Southwick waits patiently for his move.

International Relations Club

The purpose of the International Relations Club is to enable interested students to understand better the complexities of world events which concern American democratic ideals and goals. At the meetings international problems and crises are discussed. The club's activities include projects sponsored by the World Affairs Council. Each year members have the opportunity to visit the United Nations. Recently a program was initiated in which guest lecturers were invited to speak about world affairs. Early in March a representative from India is expected to address the group.

Officers and advisors of the I. R. C. club: Stephen Wing, president; Mr. Cotter and Mr. Olson, advisors; Barbara Bassett, secretary; and Robin Creed, vice-president.

By studying the New York Times, Barbara Bassett will be able to discuss the current topic at the next I. R. C. meeting.

Science Club

The main objective of the Science Club, to encourage an interest in research work, is accomplished under the guidance of Mr. Rohloff. Each member chooses a project that suits his own interests and enters it into the State Science Fair Competition. In this way he is able to develop skill in practical application of the theory learned in research to gain a better understanding of the scientific principles involved. Three member of the club participated in the Westinghouse Science Talent Search, and Allen Sweet placed as one of the winners in this area. His project was concerned with microwave electronics.

Allen Sweet explains his science project on electronics, which won him an award in the Westinghouse Science Talent Search.

The members of the Science Club are M. Stamp, R. Comey, A. Sweet, Mr. Rohloff, advisor; E. Dauer, vice-president; R. Stoutenburgh, president; B. Beattie.

Standing: Anita Lancelotta, treasurer and Andrea Grady, vice-president. Seated: Mrs. Mayor, advisor and Patricia Dwyer, president. (Not pictured: Barbara Guertin, secretary)

Home Economics

The Home Economics Club charts the course of the modern day homemaker. Here one gains an insight into the problems and responsibilities of home management. Mrs. Mayor and her group are planning to hold a food sale in order to raise money for a scholarship which is to be awarded to a college preparatory senior girl.

The Lettermen's Club is essentially a fraternal organization composed of all the athletes who have earned a letter in their respective sports. Throughout the year President Bob Bucci has led the club in promoting interest and fair play in high school athletics. In addition they have sold Christmas cards, held a paper drive, and sold refreshments at basketball games to help finance the field trip to the National Invitational Tournament in New York City. Last fall at the annual Letterman's Dance, Sharon Choate was chosen Lettermen's Queen.

Future Farmers of America

Mr. Price assists Eugene White and Walter Sullivan in repairing a piece of farm equipment.

Developing interest in home and community improvements and acquiring skills in modern agricultural techniques are the aims of the Future Farmers. Under the direction of Mr. Price, its fourteen members take part in various money-making and community improvement projects. A major source of income is the sale of firewood. One of the boys' biggest projects is supplying the city with trees and shrubs from their own nursery. The reconditioning of an old fire truck—which was donated by the Old Norwood Fire Station—is yet another undertaking of the club.

Under the direction of Mr. Price, David Anderson and Robert Taylor attempt to repair a 1934 fire truck to be used as a fire-fighting unit for the school.

Technical Staff

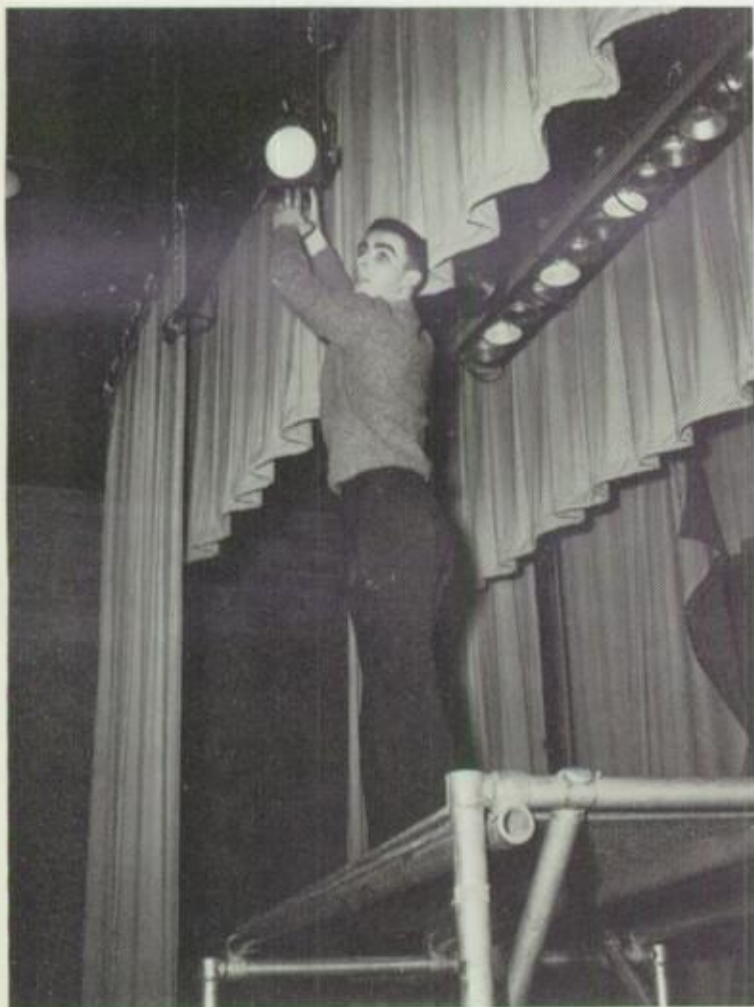

Jacks-of-all trades, the technical staff are necessary to the success of school productions. Spotlights must be focused, scenery set up, microphones plugged in, and rehearsals conducted to insure a smooth running program.

Under the direction of Miss Marianna Willard, the staff has supervised many productions. In addition to the regular school assemblies, there are the special Christmas and Easter programs, the Spring Concert, and the Senior Play. The boys are also engaged by different organizations to which the auditorium is rented.

Paul Feeney, Robert Ellis, and Kenneth Bell discuss the necessary lighting adjustments that must be made before the Spring Concert.

Robert Ellis pulls some scenery out of the scene docks for the Senior Play.

The proper lighting effect is essential to any production. Here Kenneth Bell focuses the moveable spotlight.

Paul Feeney adjusts a microphone in preparation for an assembly.

Speech Activities

Mr. Borzumato peruses the speech Peter LaPorte will deliver before the Model Congress, a project which gives students a practical knowledge of the functionings of the federal government.

M. Hogg, R. Ellis, D. Whitehead, L. Cousens, W. McLellan, S. Clevas, and Mr. Borzumato hold an informal discussion to obtain ideas and techniques for a future debate.

Donald Whitehead is doing research which is all important for presenting a plausible debate.

Resolved: That the federal government should equalize educational opportunities by means of grants to the states for public, primary, and secondary education. This is the topic chosen for all debates this year by the Rhode Island High School Forensic League, of which the Speech Activities Club is a member.

Besides taking part in several novice and varsity debates at Mount St. Charles, the club participates in the U.R.I. Debate Tournament and in the R.I. Model Congress. The main event in which the club participated was the second annual Navy League Debate.

The major objectives of this club are to develop proficiency in self-expression, argumentation, reasoning, poise, and self-confidence in speaking.

Don Whitehead and Jean Redstone rehearse for their debut in The Matchmaker in which they play the roles of Cornelius and Ermen-garde.

The senior play, The Matchmaker, under the direction of Mr. Marinelli, was successfully presented on Saturday, March 17. This four act farce by Thornton Wilder dramatizes the hilarious attempts of the widow, Mrs. Levi, to capture the heart of the dashing sixty year old Mr. Vandergelder. In doing so, Mrs. Levi eliminates all competition while seemingly trying to play the part of a matchmaker between Mr. Vandergelder and various women, real and imaginary. As in all farces, her machination leads to a wholly complicated affair which is, of course, happily resolved in the final act.

Junior Dramatics

Many students wishing to pursue their dramatic endeavors, asked that a Junior Dramatics club be started. The main purpose of the club is to provide the opportunity for eleventh grade students to develop and enrich their dramatic ability, either by acting in the plays themselves or by participating in the processes necessary for the presentation of the actual plays. Interpretation, intonation, voice projection, and reading are some of the dramatic skills gained. Two plays are to be presented, "Balcony Scene" deals with the death of a man and his judgment by his neighbors at his funeral. The human deceit and hypocrisy of the neighbors becomes manifest after his death, and an insight into the human nature of man is thoroughly aired. The purpose in presenting this play is to emphasize the fact that man can be quite human and to stress that higher motives and values should be substituted for the inhuman qualities and attitudes which guide us through life. In contrast, for those who like the lighter side of life, a farce "The Nutt Family" will be presented.

88 D. Roberts, R. Brown, F. D'Andrea, N. Pansera, and C. Latham crack up in the "The Nutt Family."

Members of the club rehearse the coffin scene from the play "The Balcony Scene."

Festival Plays

Warwick's presentation in the State Competition One Act Plays, an excerpt consisting of the first act of George Bernard Shaw's Caesar and Cleopatra, was presented at Coventry High School on April 7. The play opens in the year 48 B.C. in an Egyptian desert. Cleopatra, terrified by Caesar's impending visit to Egypt, has hidden here, hoping not to be found. Caesar discovers her but conceals his identity. When she finally realizes that this kind man is the so-called unscrupulous Caesar, she faints from the realization that Caesar is standing before her. Caesar is portrayed as a man of stature and strength and a master of the Roman world rather than the typified weakling and braggart who is usually associated with the Shakespearean character. Unlike the epitome of beauty usually synonymous with Cleopatra, she appears here as a young, timid, unsophisticated, sixteen year old girl. As is their usual custom, the Warwick players came through with an outstanding performance that gave the audience an enjoyable evening of fine dramatic entertainment.

Cast of the festival play: J. Redstone, M. Maynard, S. Greenblatt, Miss Petrella, advisor; Marcia Hogg, T. Griffin, D. Jepson, P. Hunt, J. Petrarca, and M. Jepson gather around in an informal reading of parts.

Under the direction of Mr. Low, the band has achieved prominence on the local and national level. On the local scene, the band has participated in the Veterans Day Parade, the Providence Thanksgiving Day Parade, and was chosen as the best marching band in the Knights of Columbus Parade. The group is also planning to attend the Music Man Festival in Mason City, Iowa. Among their civic contributions, the band participated in the Flower Drum Song premier for the benefit of muscular dystrophy. The band has two functions, as a marching band and a concert band. The former instills discipline and creates morale for the football team; the latter develops an understanding and enjoyment of fine music and provides entertainment at school functions.

Kenneth Tella, Richard Leslie, and Joseph Smith, better known as the Three Jets, played a trumpet trio in the Winter Concert.

The Band Council, the executive body for the band includes D. Miner, B. Boylan, J. Hexter, secretary-treasurer; M. Low, vice-president; L. Raymond, P. Moury, R. Leslie; R. McGinnes, president.

Orchestra

For the first time in its history, Warwick is able to boast of a fine string section. The first half of the year was devoted to improving string techniques, while the second half saw the integration of woodwind, percussion, and brass to create a full symphonic orchestra.

Under the direction of Mr. Low the organization has been active in both public and private events. Individuals participated in the Rhode Island All-State Orchestra and the All New England Orchestra. The orchestra also took part in the New England Solo and Ensemble Auditions. The orchestra lent not only a note of music but of dignity to the culmination of the senior year by providing the music for class day and the graduation exercises.

The String Trio: A. Barnicoat, violinist; M. Smedberg, pianist; M. Low, cellist.

The String Ensemble: D. Conklin, M. Low, C. Krawchuk, C. Guisti, W. Peck, P. Heeley, E. Beauregard, S. Zaidman, C. Little, P. Clevis, N. Latham, D. Parker, A. Barnicoat, D. Wickes, Mr. Low, M. Smedberg, D. Lewis.

Chorus

The chorus under the direction of Miss Willard and Mr. Eggert has participated in several concerts and school assemblies. They have sung various selections of sacred and secular music. In school the chorus performed at the Christmas and Easter assemblies, in the Spring Concert, and for the P.T.A. After their debut at the three junior high schools, they competed at the New England Auditions in Boston, in the All State Chorus, and in the New England Concert Festival.

By emphasizing breath control and interpretation, Miss Willard and Mr. Eggert have developed team work and musical judgment. The student body has shown a great deal of interest in choral activities, and many students have taken an extra class after school in order to take chorus during the regular day.

Girls' Leader Corps is an organization which provides an opportunity for girls to demonstrate their leadership abilities in the field of sports. In order to participate in this club, the girls must be thoroughly acquainted with the rules of the various sports so as to be able to substitute for gym teachers or to assist in officiating games. Since last year this group has expanded its activities to outsiders as well. Several of the members visit Ladd School each week to participate in sock dances, basketball games, and bowling matches with the children. There many girls have adopted younger brothers and sisters with whom they spend the afternoon.

Dance Club

Linda Kenny, president of Dance Club, opens the session with a recording of the Russian Troika.

The aim of the Dance Club is to help its members to develop poise. The club also provides the girls with the opportunity to express their talent and creativity as they make up and teach their own dances. The club meets on Saturday mornings from 9:00 - 10:30. In preparation for the annual program in May, the girls held a food sale and a splash party, the funds of which will help to buy costumes for this important production.

Prompted by Mrs. Moxley, Susan Priestly expresses her interpretation of modern jazz to the Dance Club.

The Fencing Club is a group of girls who, under the direction of Mrs. Downs, strive to improve their fencing skills. Since Warwick High is one of a few schools in Rhode Island which offer fencing, the club provides an opportunity for girls to compete outside the state.

Interested students may join the club to develop their drills and attacks, or perhaps to have some active fun. Weekly practices prepare the girls for the Intercollegiate Tournament which takes place each spring at Brandeis University.

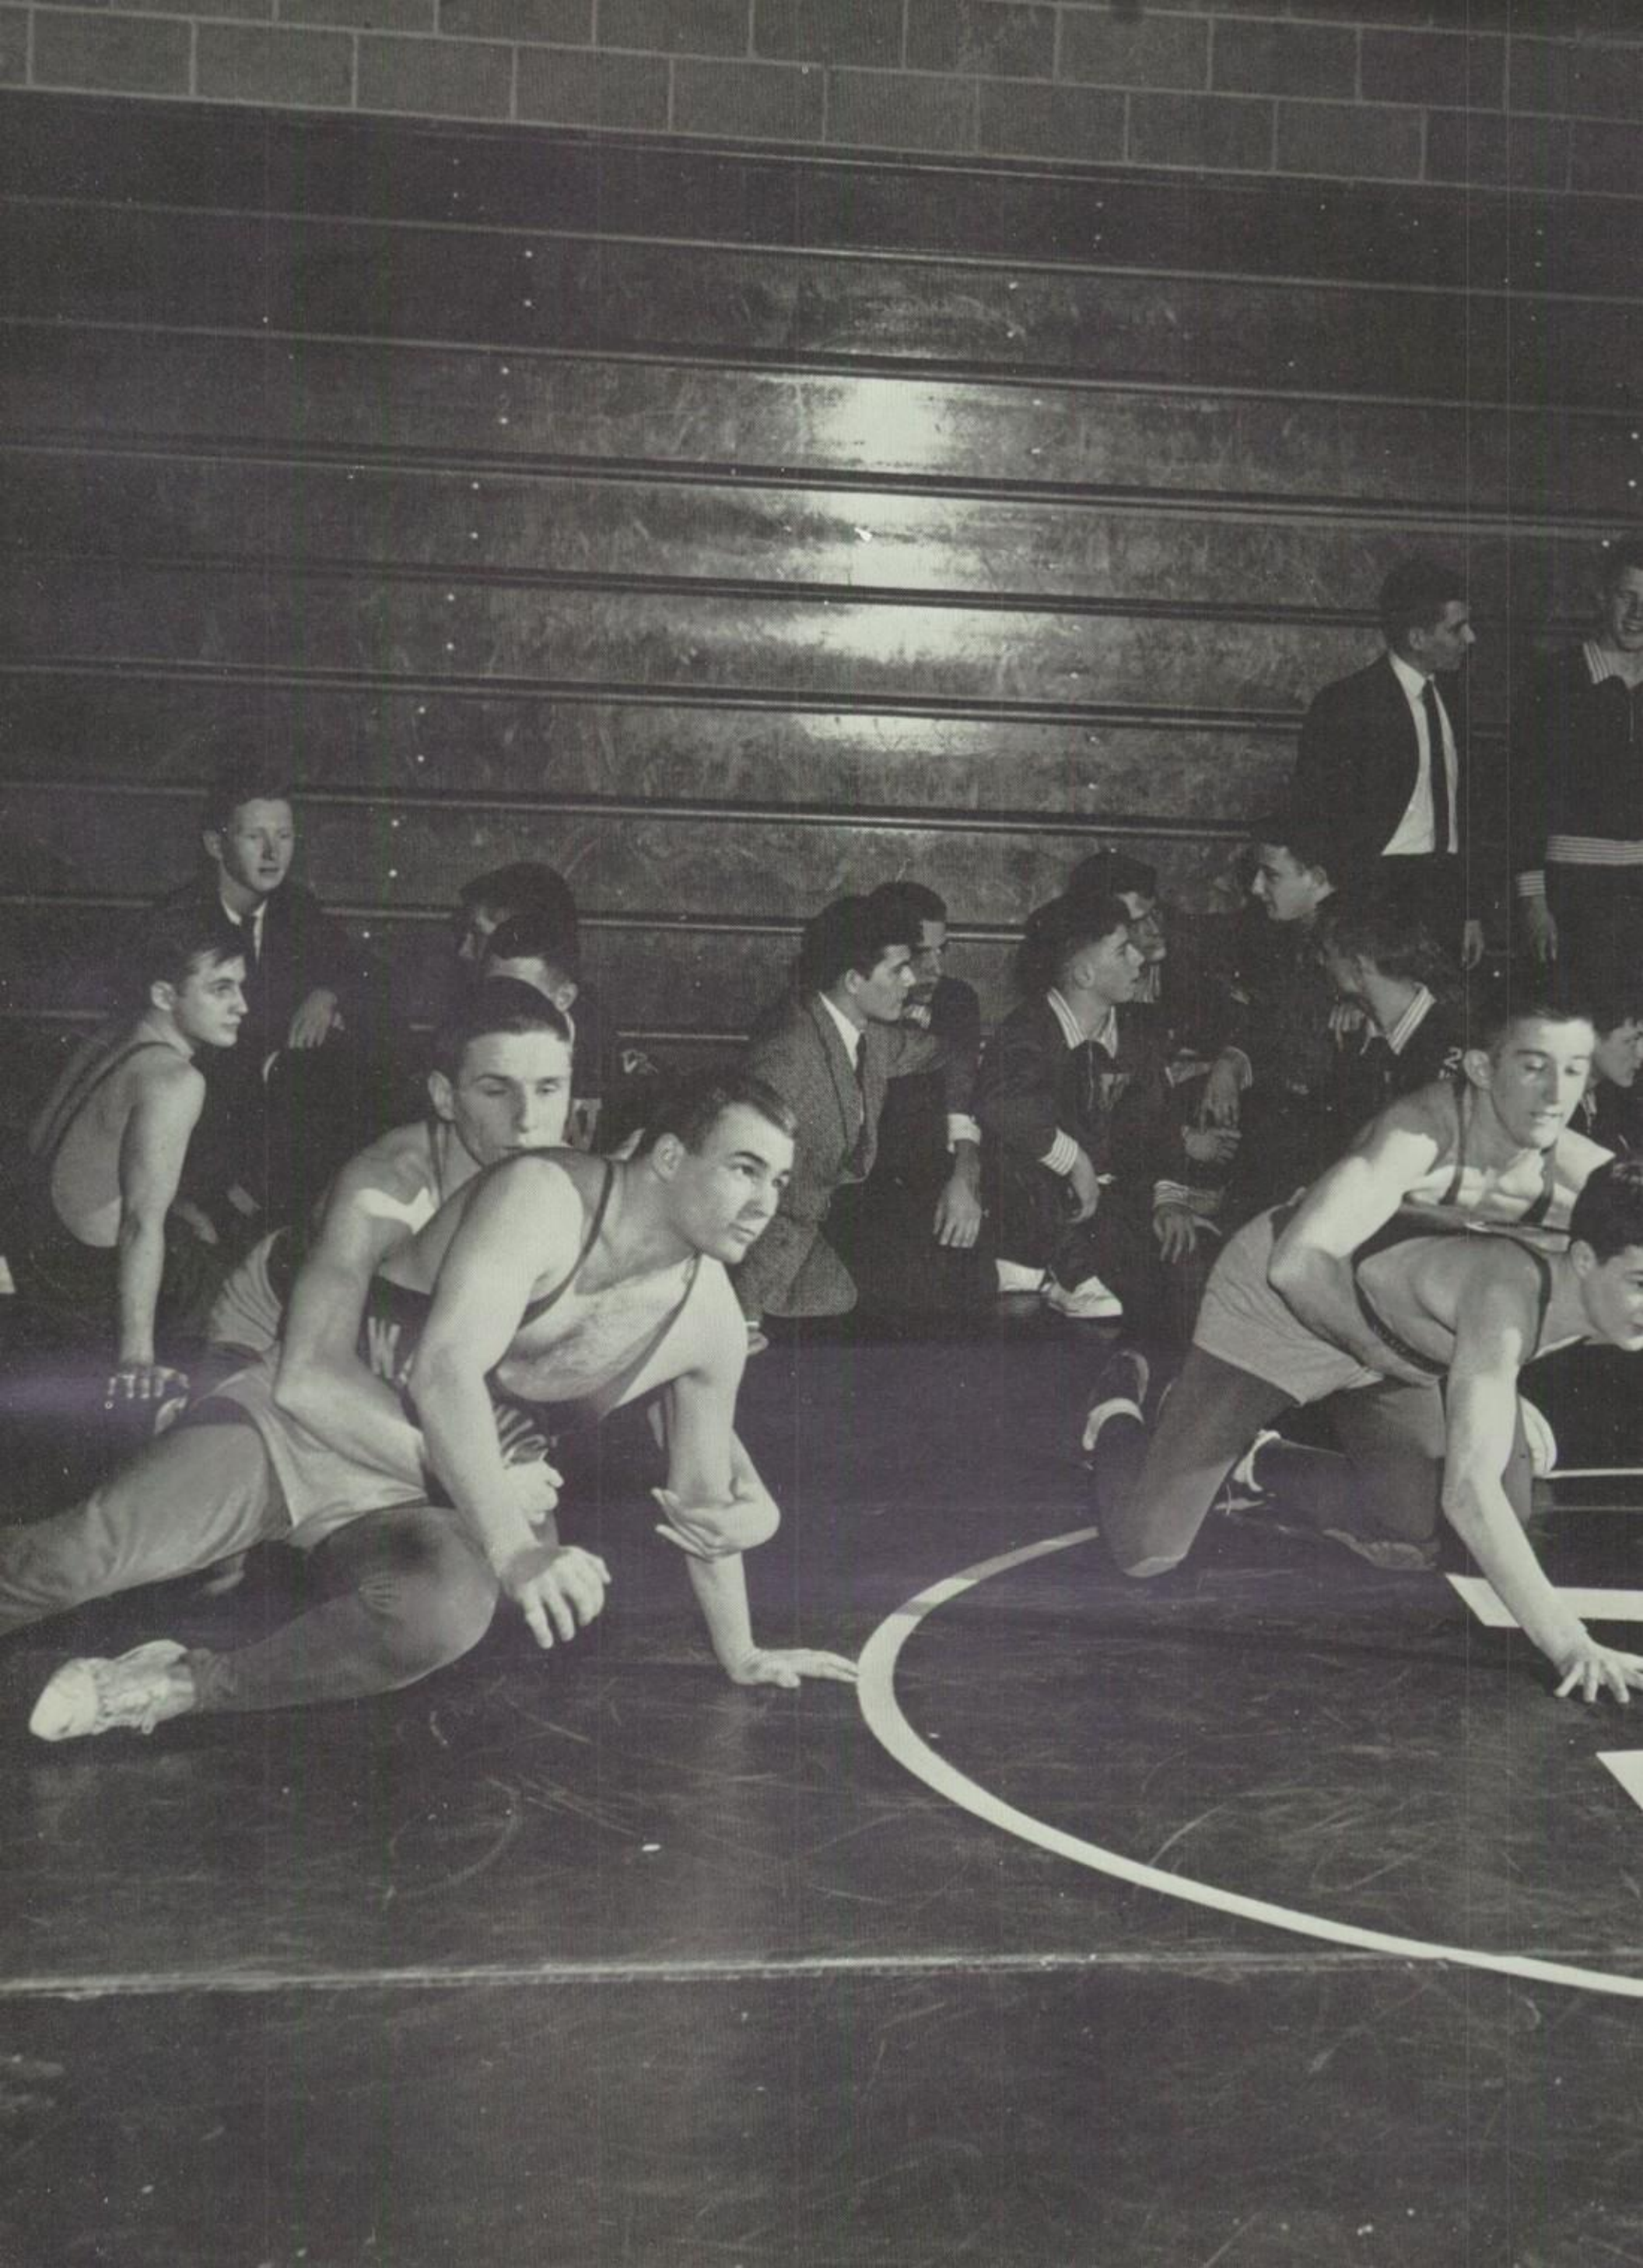

Six advanced fencers entered the Amateur Fencing League of America and competed in a tournament on February 18.

Football

In spite of the comparative inexperience of the players and the costly injuries suffered, Warwick came through with another winning season in football. Under the able direction of Coach Miller, the team claimed four out of seven league games. Even this record, however, is not a true indication of the spirit and determination possessed by the players. This season was as exciting as it was successful, and cheering fans had an opportunity to witness many thrilling moments. In the opening game with LaSalle, Warwick was behind until the last minutes when a long pass by Chris Rallis brought a victory. Dick Brookes, catching this pass and many others, went on to score more touchdowns than any other end in the history of the school. Warwick High also owes much to the consistently fine performances of Frank Bettencourt, John Brown, and Bob Bucci.

Under the coaching of Mr. Taylor and Mr. Arnold, the junior varsity football squad had another successful season. Continuing a traditionally fine record, this year's team won seven games, lost two, and tied one. Dick McDaniels scored ten touchdowns and three field goals for a total of 63 points. Bill Bjerke and John Rallis also aided the team greatly by scoring eight and three touchdowns respectively.

Basketball

Warwick's basketball squad under the leadership of Coach Hall finished fourth in the Class A metropolitan division. The loss of Joe Williams for two games hurt the 'Canes at the height of their season. The captain returned to sport a 20.7 average and to accumulate a total of 249 points. Chris Rallis and Dave Weremay also contributed to the 7-7 record by scoring 196 and 191 points respectively. The team scored their strongest victory by defeating LaSalle 70 to 60 after having lost to the Maroons earlier in the season by one point. The 'Canes will suffer by losing seniors Williams, Weremay, Rallis, and Brookes. However, Coach Hall is looking forward to a more successful season next year.

Cross Country

A hard-working but under-manned cross-country team managed to come through with a respectable record at the season's end. The harriers finished ninth in the Columbus Day run, fourth in the Class A race, and twelfth in the state meet. Co-captains Bill McNulty and Bob Maine gave fine showings in every race, especially in the state meet, where Bob was named to the second team, all-state. Coach Johnson hopes that next season he will get a larger turnout for cross-country, for this school has the capability to produce a championship team.

Varsity Hockey

The Hurricane hockey team once again displayed skill, determination, and stamina. With hopes for the New England play-offs, the skaters battled to a 16-4 league record, clinching fourth place position and a berth in the state play-offs. Although the team will lose goalie Bob Carroll, lineman Tom Slater, and forward Buddy Ensher, coaches Crawley and Carello agree that next year's prospects are extremely encouraging, with high scorers Dave Erickson and Jack Crawley returning. In addition the Warwick Recreation League acts as a good farm system for training prospective Hurricane skaters.

In an abbreviated season, the 'Cane indoor trackmen made another good showing, placing third in the Class A Championships, third in the Relay Carnival, sixth in the state meet, and fifth in the Brown Interscholastic meet. Captain Tom Flanders was named to the first team All-State in the 600 yard run; Fred Bayha made second team All-State in the high jump; and Hugh Raymond put the shot for a record 51' 10½" to become Class A champ. Although Warwick will lose some outstanding men this spring, Coach Johnson forecasts a very good season for next year with some very good underclassmen to fill their places.

Dan Harrison puts the shot forty-two feet three inches.

Paul White, a promising sophomore, goes all out in the Relay Carnival.

Indoor Track

Bill McNulty breaks the tape to take first place in the mile run.

Fred Bayha clears the bar at five feet nine inches.

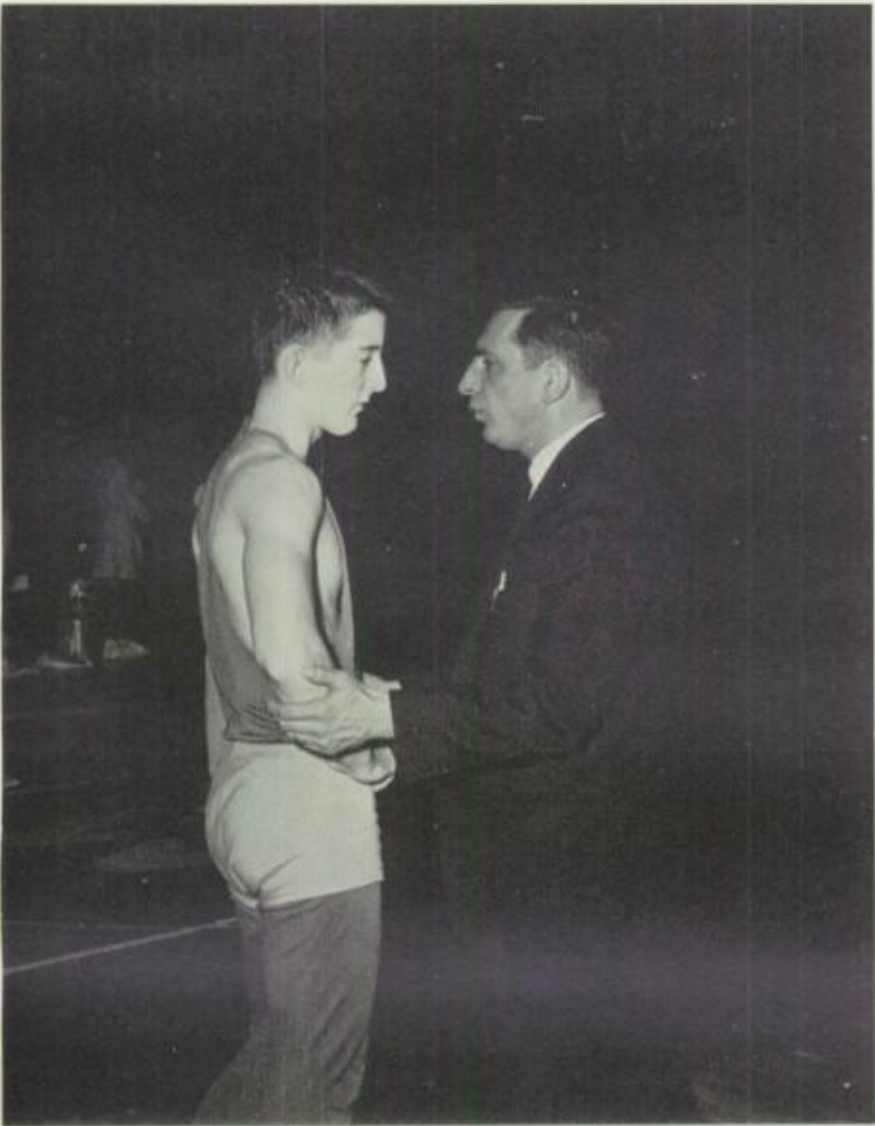

Varsity Wrestling

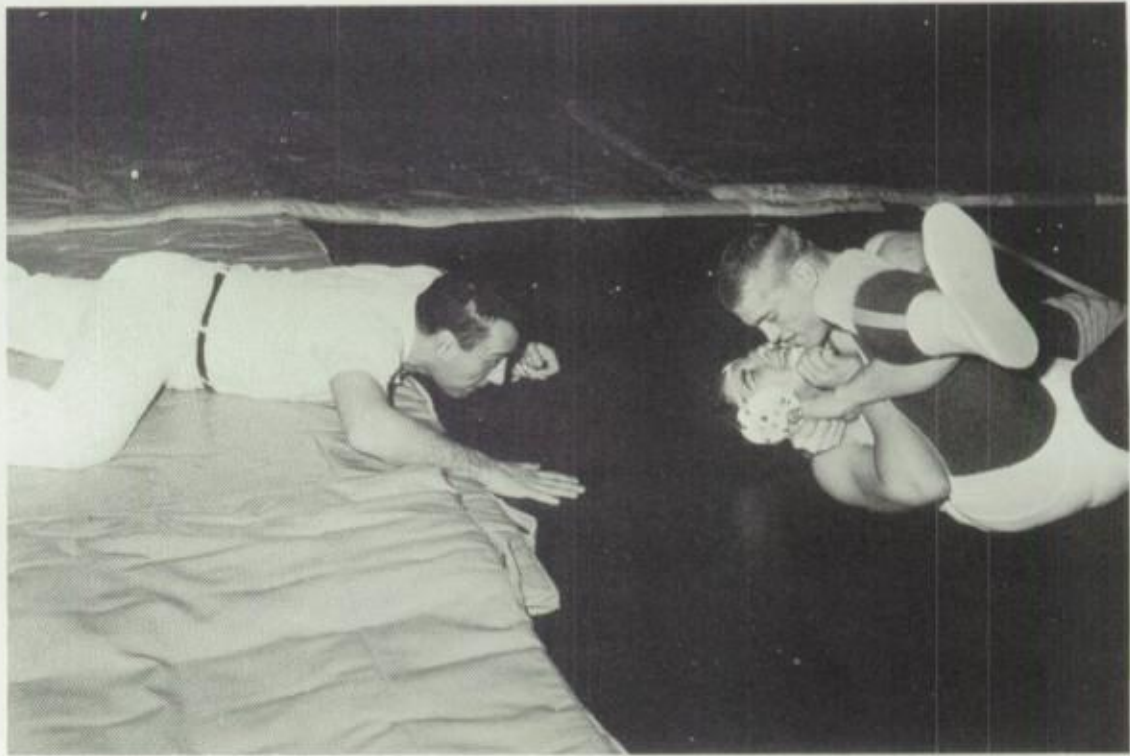

Another season of hard work paid off in a fine team record. The Warwick grapplers finished in third place, with five men going on to compete in the state meet. Mike Gibb wrestled his way to the state championship in the 115-pound class. Artie Kopf and Bob Emerson were named to the second team, all-state; and both John Brown and Dick Johnson placed third.

Few people realize what it takes to become a wrestler. Strenuous practice and exhausting workouts are only part of the story. Because it is always advantageous to wrestle in the lowest weight class possible, curbs are often put on diet. Before a match with another school, eliminations are held so that only the best Warwick wrestler in each particular weight class will compete.

The able wrestler must have the agility of a tennis player and the stamina of a cross country runner. He also must be able to make fast and accurate decisions in tight situations. Above all, however, he must possess a strong will to win.

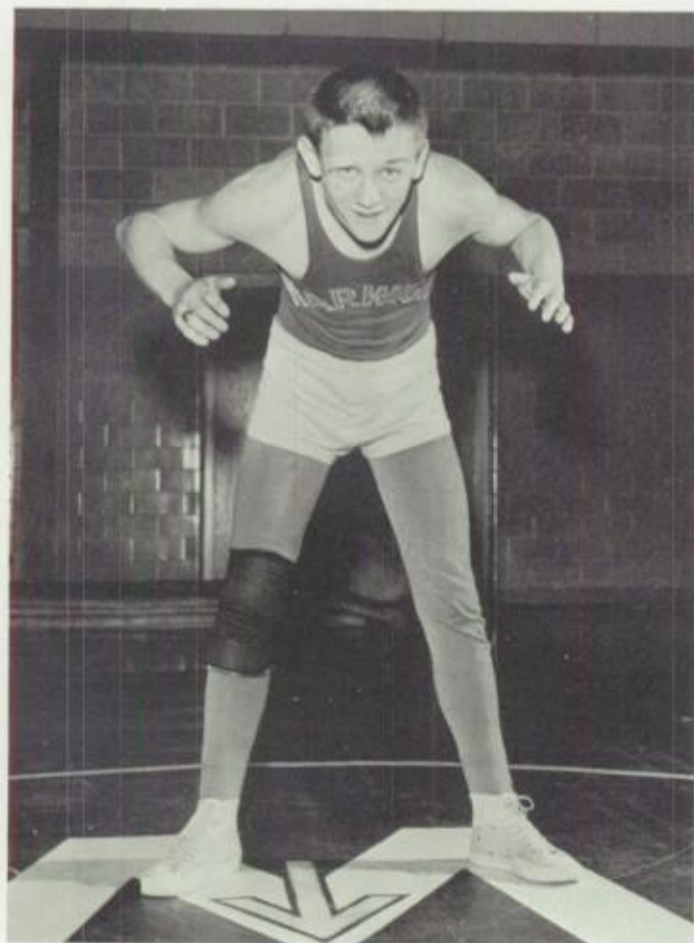

Coach Shola and team captain Arthur Kopf discuss strategy before a match.

Junior Varsity Wrestling

Although no actual team scores were kept, Warwick's Junior Varsity Wrestling team had a very successful year. Throughout the season the boys showed determination and perseverance. They gained valuable experience in bouts with other J. V. teams. Six of the team members gained individual prominence by winning medals in the State J.V. Wrestling Championships. These boys definitely will be an asset to next year's varsity squad.

Coach Pagano

P. Emerson, K. MacNaught, P. Lindemann, S. Hantley, J. Gilchrist, and W. St. John, won medals in the state meet for J. V. Wrestlers.

Coach McKeon, Glen Pratt, Tom Slater, Fred D'Andrea.

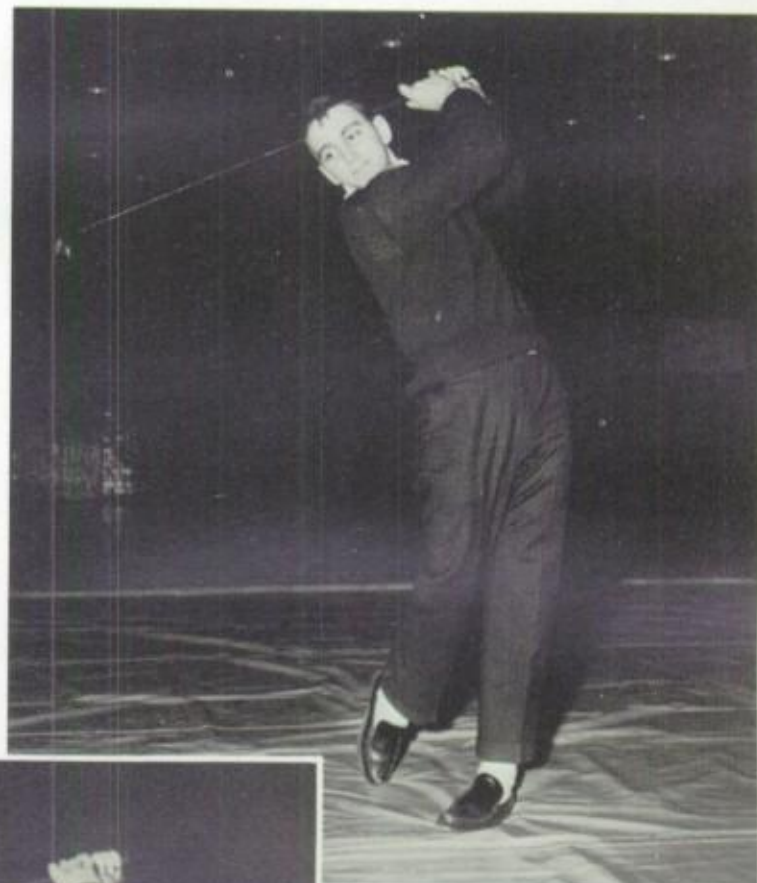

Golf

Defeated only by Bishop Hendricken and West Warwick, the star-studded 'Canes slammed their way to a ten and two record last year. To climax their activities, Tom Slater participated in the International Junior Chamber of Commerce Tournament in Denver after he had won the Rhode Island Junior Open in June. Coach McKeon feels that their chances for a championship this year have improved with the addition of Fred D'Andrea and Mike Droitcour to last year's combination of Glen Pratt and Tom Slater.

Glen Pratt prepares to tee off. This is unusual, especially since he doesn't have a ball.

Baseball

Coach Carroll believes the coming season will be successful, in spite of the loss of last year's seniors. Returning seniors Pete Castriotta and Chris Rallis show great promise as pitchers. Ewart Maroelli and Dick Brown will alternate for the position of catcher, while John Shepard will return to manage the team. With a little experience the team holds promise of achieving a fine record.

Coach Rittman is expecting another prosperous season this year.

Outdoor Track

"Don't throw it!" Alden Bugbee aims a javelin at the camera.

With several outstanding men from indoor track returning to form the framework of the outdoor team, Coach Johnson looks forward to a successful season. Tom Flanders poses a big threat for opponents in the 660 yard run, and Hugh Raymond will attempt to better his indoor track record for the shotput. Alden Bugbee and Dave Weremay look promising for the javelin throw, and Joe Williams will specialize in the broad jump.

The outdoor track team breaks out the equipment. Here, Steve Southwick tests the weight of the discus.

STOPPING BY WOODS ON A SNOWY EVENING

*Whose woods these are I think I know.
His house is in the village though;
He will not see me stopping here
To watch his woods fill up with snow.*

*My little horse must think it queer
To stop without a farmhouse near
Between the woods and frozen lake
The darkest evening of the year.*

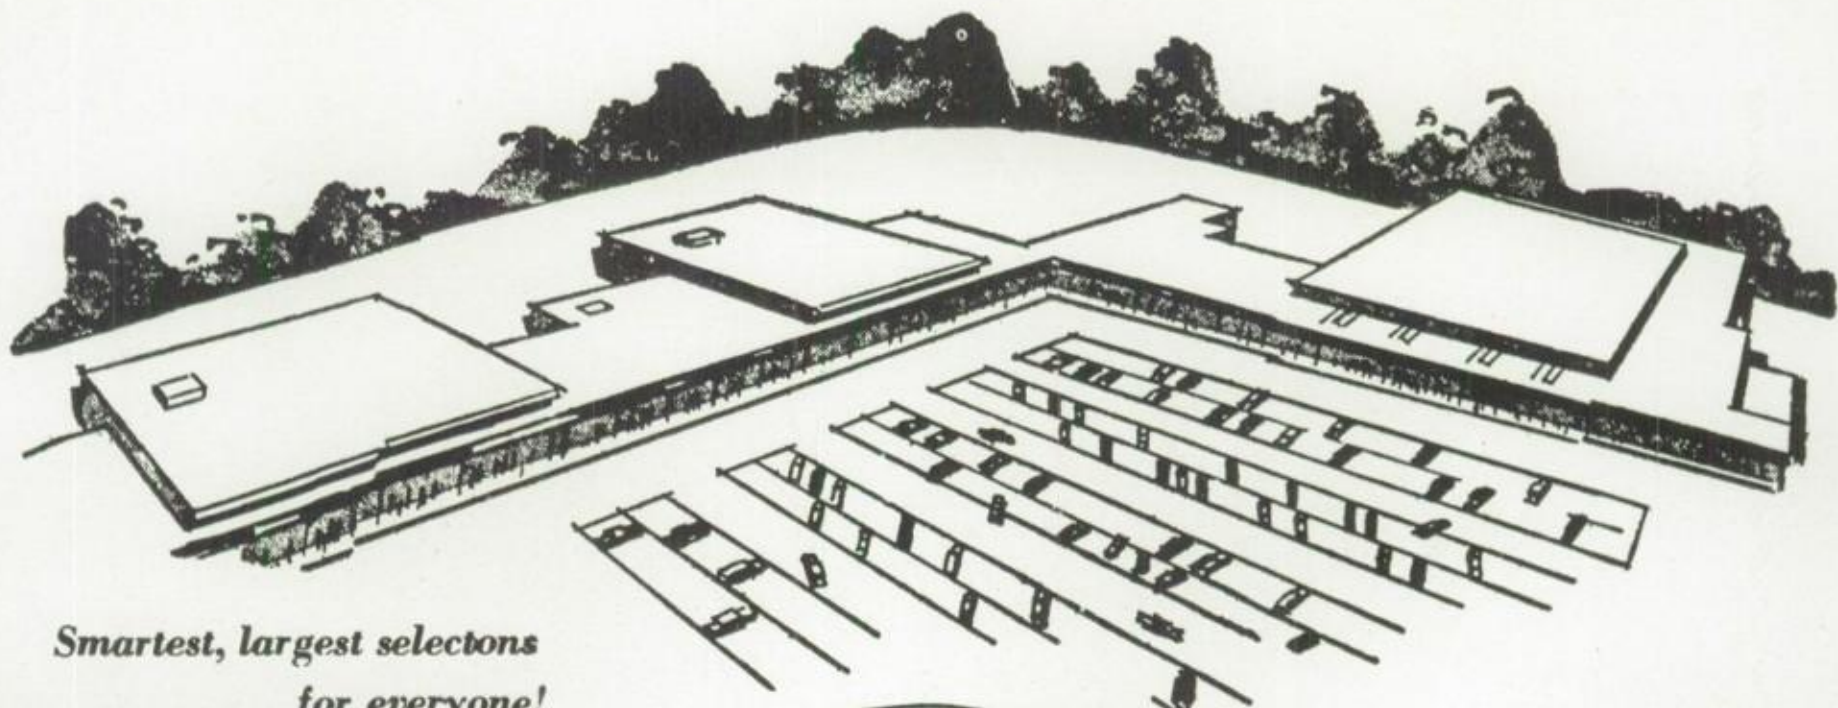

*He gives his harness bells a shake
To ask if there is some mistake.
The only other sound's the sweep
Of easy wind and downy flake.*

*The woods are lovely, dark and deep.
But I have promises to keep,
And miles to go before I sleep,
And miles to go before I sleep.*

Robert Frost
